topograph. Bear left and descend the grassy slope and continue to follow the Cotswold Way signs. Pass Cleeve Hill Golf Club clubhouse (refreshments available) and turn right to follow the Cotswold Way along a good track, pass through one gate to reach a second C.

Go through this second gate and bear left, leaving the Cotswold Way, and shortly pass through another gate to walk down a gently sloping but stony track to arrive at the beginning of a drive to Postlip Hall.

becomes narrower and evolves into a stony track at Noverton Cottage. This track can contain running water in wet weather.

Ignoring small turns to gates, at a fork keep right and continue uphill until meeting the Cotswold Way at a T-junction B.

Here turn left and follow the well way-marked Cotswold Way along the scarp edge, enjoying views to the Black Mountains and the Malvern Hills. The path passes through two butterfly reserves which hold endangered species such as Duke of Burgundy and Small Blue together with specialised limestone flora.

Eventually the path moves away from the edge to reach a trig point and a Cross this drive and walk carefully on the grass verge alongside the B4632 road for 150 metres before turning right onto a tarmac road signposted 'Postlip Mill' D.

After 250 metres turn left through a gate and follow the stone path to another gate. Turn left to follow a track, where the main track bears left E, go straight on and rise up to a gate ahead, pass through and follow this footpath with a hedge on your right to reach a road. Continue ahead in the same direction to arrive back at the start in Abbey Terrace.
